

Sustainability education summit

February 1st, 2019
12:00 - 3:00 PM

Creating a collaborative sustainability education community through an innovative online Summit

Teaching Sustainability across Disciplines

Institute on the Environment (IonE) Educators from Crookston, Duluth, and the Twin Cities share innovative, interdisciplinary pedagogy in sustainability education.

Campus visits: Placed-based Education

Each University of Minnesota campus present a short video displaying how their campus teaches sustainability.

Community Kiosk: Hearing from you!

The Summit closes with an online community exchange, where all participants are welcome to converse about their experiences, and thoughts about sustainability education.

In-person events will be hosted on the five University of Minnesota campuses and the entire Summit will be live streamed on Youtube live.

Please visit the Sustainability Education Summit page for details on how to attend an in-person campus event or participate online on February 1st.